The proposed Pakistan China Economic Corridor through Gilgit Baltistan has been in the pipeline for quite some time. Statements from the government of Pakistan reveal the high hopes that both Pakistan and Chinese side are pinning on the proposed economic zone. Several prospects have been discussed, as reports included in the current issue indicate, as to how after the corridor comes up, Pakistan will become an important link on the global transit map. Especially in Gilgit Baltistan, people are being given to understand that the corridor will usher in economic prosperity and development in the region. Gilgit Baltistan forms the crucial link between the all-weather allies- Pakistan and China and recently this fact was yet again reiterated by the Chairman of the Senate Defence Committee, Senator Mushahid Hussain Sayed, in Islamabad. He urged that Gilgit Baltistan is very important politically, economically and strategically and in view of the growing relations between Pakistan and China, the region requires added attention.

Meanwhile, China has offered to invest $ 22 billion in Pakistan provided it is given control on key projects such as the Diamer Bhasha dam, the Tarbela extension project etc without international bidding process.

Trade across the Line of Control (LoC) was disrupted for over a fortnight after a truck driver from 'AJK' (Azad Jammu and Kashmir), allegedly carrying narcotics, was arrested by the J&K (Jammu and Kashmir) police in January 2014. As reports noted, 114 kilograms of narcotics was found hidden in the consignment of almonds which was being traded across into J&K. Subsequent to the arrest, the crisis escalated and left several trucks stranded on both sides. The matter was taken up by authorities on either sides but no breakthrough could be achieved. As a fallout of the standoff, the bus service too was discontinued for some time. The deadlock could be resolved only in February 2014 after several rounds of talks were held.

Shabbir Mir, “Highway killings: ATC grants bail to five suspects”

The Express Tribune, January 1, 2014

GILGIT: A court in Gilgit-Baltistan (G-B) on December 31 accepted the bail plea of five men accused of attacking buses and killing passengers on the Karakoram Highway in 2012. The decision was made by Justice Raja Shahbaz Khan of the anti-terrorism court, paving the way for the temporary release of the accused languishing in a jail in Chilas, headquarters of Diamer Valley since last year. “The court has granted bail to Maulana Muzammil Shah, Qari Qayyum, Rizwan, Mohamad Yasir and Mahmoodul Hassan,” a lawyer stated. The five accused had surrendered to police in Chilas town through a local jirga after being nominated in the sectarian violence that had gripped the whole of G-B in 2012, resulting in the killing of more than 70 people in separate incidents.

“Govt urged to encourage agri entrepreneurs”

Dawn, January 31, 2014

ISLAMABAD: Agriculture experts have urged the government to encourage entrepreneurship along the Pakistan-China Economic Corridor for development of horticulture and related sectors, starting from Gilgit-Baltistan to Gwadar. This would promote agriculture as well as generate employment opportunities, they stated. Since the economic corridor was on the cards, the government should gear up to fully exploit the potential of agricultural sector along the vast corridor, they added. These views were expressed by the experts during a visit of the members of National Assembly Standing Committee on National Food Security to the National Agricultural Research Centre on January 30. Despite low spending on agriculture, the sector was producing promising results, they stated. Pakistan Agricultural Research Council Chairman, Dr Iftikhar Ahmad, informed legislators that the PARC was running a considerable number of projects with foreign financing. However, increased funding by the federal government to projects aimed at further developing agriculture should be forthcoming.

Shabbir Mir, “Gilgit-Baltistan's chief executive undecided over anti-corruption drive”

The Express Tribune, January 31, 2014

GILGIT: Gilgit-Baltistan (G-B) Chief Minister (CM) Mehdi Shah is apparently double minded about whether or not to support the ongoing drive against corruption in the region. In a seemingly no-win situation, if he supports the drive, it is highly likely that many appointments made in his tenure will be reversed. This will cause Shah to lose support within the Pakistan Peoples Party (PPP) for being “subservient to the bureaucracy” as one source put it. If Shah does not extend his support, he may run the risk of having his public image as a clean politician tainted a blow to him and PPP as the region heads to elections in 2014.

G-B Chief Secretary Younus Dagher earlier ordered an inquiry into illegal appointments in government departments as he was flooded by complaints immediately after assuming office last year. In the past week alone, at least 80 employees were sacked and many more from the Excise and Taxation department are likely to follow suit as a result of the inquiry.

Ahmad Mehdi, “Taliban Could Attack Tourists in Northern Areas”

January 29, 2014

It was recently reported from Islamabad that Taliban might be planning attacks on the tourists who visited the Northern Areas of Pakistan. Last year 10 foreigners were massacred and the incident is still quite fresh in the minds of the people. Several tourists travel to Gilgit and Baltistan during their vacations. The mountains, glaciers and the second highest peak in the world, K2, attracts tourists to visit Pakistan despite the current security conditions.

Most recently a militant attack took place in recent weeks and now officials are warning about another attack which might take place in the Northern Areas. A senior officer of the Gilgit-Baltistan administration was interviewed and while talking about the security conditions he stated, "The interior ministry has officially informed Gilgit-Baltistan that the Pakistani Taliban can strike the region. The interior ministry warned of suicide bombings and attacks on tourists in the region."

Saleem Shaikh and Sughra Tunio, "Pakistan's timber mafia threaten forest protection plans environmentalists"

Thomson Reuters Foundation, January 29, 2014

CHILAS: Nestled on the west side of Pakistan's Indus River, the remote town of Chilas is notorious for its timber smugglers, who operate freely in the northern district of Gilgit-Baltistan. "I don't think any conservation efforts will really save Pakistan's rapidly shrinking forests as long as the government does not deal with the timber mafia with an iron fist," stated environmentalist Ghulam Ali, who lives in Chilas, 211 km (132 miles) north of Islamabad. Pakistan's timber mafia is made up of organised gangs that cut trees from state-owned forests and sell them illegally, often working at night. Ali stated Chilas is now grappling with the consequences of large swathes of denuded forest. It is experiencing warmer summers and winters, fewer rainy days, frequent landslides, a rise in pest attacks on crops and a decline in the bird population, he stated. Some 43,000 hectares of forest are cleared annually in Pakistan, which has the highest deforestation rate in Asia, according to the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO). Each of Pakistan's five provinces has its own forest laws, intended to regulate forest conservation and timber harvesting according to local needs.

"Indo-Pak Chakothi bridge standoff meeting over stranded trucks proves futile"

ANI, January 29, 2014

ISLAMABAD: The standoff is the result of the arrest of an Azad Jammu and Kashmir truck driver, who was detained by the Indian authorities on account of smuggling drugs. The Chakothi bridge meeting held by official delegations from the Indian and Pakistani Line of Control (LOC), to resolve the issue of stranded trucks, has reportedly yielded no results. Following an eleven-day standoff, the meeting was held at the Chakothi bridge, which divides the state of Jammu and Kashmir, to discuss the issue of stranded trucks and the continuation of Muzaffarabad-Srinagar Bus and Truck services.

The Azad Jammu and Kashmir delegation was led by Pakistan's Director General Travel and Trade Authority (Tata) Brigadier Retired Muhammad Ismail while the Indian team was led by Secretary Industries Muhammad Javid Khan. The standoff is the result of the arrest of an Azad Jammu and Kashmir truck driver, who was detained by the Indian authorities on account of smuggling drugs. Meanwhile, another meeting has been scheduled for January 30 to resolve the matter.

Mariana Baabar, “Pakistan hopeful for diplomatic solution, Trucks row at LoC”

The News, January 26, 2014

ISLAMABAD: Pakistan on January 25 remained hopeful that the continuing week-old row with India with trucks detained on both sides of the Line of Control (LoC) and the bus services for Kashmiris halted, will be 'solved diplomatically'. About 50 trucks from Azad Jammu and Kashmir (AJK) are presently parked in J&K as the drivers of these trucks refuse to return to AJK without their fellow drivers who have been picked up on charges of trafficking drugs and are presently in custody while investigations continue. Since January 17, they are parked at the Salamabad trade centre in Baramulla district. Meanwhile, Pakistan stated that 27 trucks which have crossed over into AJK have been detained in retaliation but the drivers are not under arrest.

Shabbir Mir, “In solidarity: G-B Assembly adopts resolution against terrorism”

The Express Tribune, January 23, 2014

GILGIT: The Gilgit-Baltistan (G-B) legislative assembly unanimously adopted a resolution on January 22 against the ongoing wave of terrorist attacks in the country.

Mutabiat Shah, a lawmaker from Hunza, tabled the resolution referring to incidents including the attack on security forces in Bannu and Royal Artillery Bazaar, Rawalpindi. “This house expresses solidarity with families that lost their dear ones in these terrorist attacks,” stated the resolution passed by the house unanimously. “The rule of law is nowhere to be seen and the recurrence of such heinous incidents is testament to that,” the lawmaker stated in the session being chaired by Speaker Wazir Baig. Chief Minister Mehdi Shah, who was in Islamabad, could not attend the session after his flight got cancelled. Rahmat Khaliq of Jamiat Ulema-e-Islam-Fazl (JUI-F) blamed the absence of a concrete foreign policy for the deteriorating law and order in the country, adding unless that changes, things are likely to remain the same. In response to a question, Minister for Local Government and Rural Development Engineer Mohammad Ismail stated the Local Bodies Act would be submitted in the house for approval once it has been vetted by experts including the advocate general. On a point of order, Minister for Agriculture, Fisheries and Livestock Sheikh Nisar Hussain Sarbaz of Pakistan Peoples Party (PPP) stated Rs280 million has been allocated for development of agriculture in the region.

“Kashmiri truckers stranded in new India-Pakistan row”

The Express Tribune, January 24, 2014

The 49 truck drivers, grizzled men from the mountains of Kashmir, were on a routine job dropping goods across the LoC between Pakistan and India when a drugs bust left them stranded. For more than a week, the men from the Pakistani side of the divided region, one of the world's most sensitive faultlines, have been stuck in the middle of a row that reflects the difficulty in boosting regional ties through trade. On January 17, Indian police along the treacherous mountain road leading between the two sides seized a truck and arrested its driver after 114 kilograms of heroin were found concealed in a consignment of almonds. Pakistani authorities then refused to let the other trucks in the convoy, or the 48 other drivers, back across the heavily militarised Line of Control unless the arrested man was returned as well. They also detained 27 Indian trucks and their drivers, who had crossed over on the same day to deliver goods as part of a barter trade agreement that was started as a “confidence-building measure” in 2008.

“Cross-border trade: FO help sought to resolve spat”

The Express Tribune, January 25, 2014

MUZAFFARABAD: Officials of the Cross LoC Travel and Trade Authority (Tata) have sought help from Foreign Office (FO) to intervene to get the trucks released from the detention of authorities in J&K. The cross-border trade and travel have remained suspended after J&K police arrested a truck driver from Azad Jammu and Kashmir (AJK) accusing him of smuggling heroin. The Indian administration has also detained 49 other trucks from this side, prompting Pakistan to halt the cross-border trade and bus travel. Sources noted that the Tata officials met senior officials of the FO on January 23 to get the issue resolved at the earliest. Tata officials were told that the Pakistan High Commission in New Delhi was already in contact with Islamabad on the issue. The FO officials assured the Tata officials that highest level of diplomacy will be used to solve the spat.

Shabbir Mir, “Fresh alerts: G-B lawmakers ask CM to review security measures”

The Express Tribune, January 24, 2014

GILGIT: The Gilgit-Baltistan (G-B) Assembly speaker on January 23 directed Chief Minister (CM) Mehdi Shah to immediately review the region's security arrangements in light of new terrorist threats. Speaker Wazir Baig made the comments after Pakistan Peoples Party (PPP) lawmaker from Ghizer, Ayub Shah, referred to a “threat alert” from the interior ministry which revealed that terrorists are planning attacks in the region. “The matter is quite serious and warrants adoption of pre-emptive measures on a war footing,” stated Baig, asking the CM to immediately to hold a meeting with security heads of the region to ensure fool proof preventive arrangements.

Shah stated the letter warned of attacks by terrorists in the guise of security officials. Minister for Water and Power, Didar Ali, demanded an in-camera briefing for lawmakers in the wake of renewed threats and stated downplaying of the matter may lead to a catastrophe. The CM, however, termed the alerts a routine matter but vowed to hold a session with security chiefs to ascertain the situation. A copy of the decisions taken in the meeting would be forwarded to the house, he assured the speaker. Meanwhile, Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N) lawmaker from Baltistan, Sultan Ali, called for provision of official accommodation for parliamentarians from remote areas as they do not feel secure in hotels. “The parliamentarians from remote areas visiting Gilgit officially don't feel secure in the town,” he further stated.

Shabbir Mir, “Diامر-Bhasha Dam: Diامر embarks on 'plantation drive' for better compensation”

The Express Tribune, January 27, 2014

GILGIT: As the cycle of demand and supply goes, Gilgit-Baltistan's (G-B) Diامر Valley has recently seen a rise in the demand for plants as saplings are being imbedded in vast tracts of barren land to obtain higher compensation amounts from authorities. The federal government has acquired thousands of acres for the construction of the Diامر-Bhasha Dam, categorising the land into barren and cultivable. As per the law, owners of cultivable land are entitled to double the amount of compensation given to owners of barren land. Over the past few months, administration officials have distributed millions of rupees in compensation among residents and the process will continue in the coming couple of weeks. Thus, in a bid to hoodwink the government and make an extra buck, locals have begun planting saplings on their barren land so as to receive more money from the government.

Zafar Sultan, “A plea for overseas Mirpurians”

Pakistan Observer, January 23, 2014

Mirpur is a prosperous city of AJK, and a sizeable number of Mirpuris are well settled abroad, especially in England. Veritably, those Mirpuris have contributed generously in the health and education sector. I wonder why Government Girls' High School Kalyal, Mirpur AJK could not grab the attention of those philanthropists. I visited the schools a few days back but was shocked to see the deplorable conditions in which our young girls the future mothers of the nation were facing the brunt of the cold weather under open sky or in the airy rooms with broken window pans. Maybe the children of only have-nots go to this underprivileged government school.

Aditi Khanna, “Britain's Balti Cuisine Seeks EU Protection”

Outlook, January 22, 2014

LONDON: Cuisine from the Indian sub-continent has taken on different forms in Britain and among the popular ones is "Balti" from Birmingham, which has applied for protected name status across the European Union. The Balti cuisine is a reference to the flat-bottomed metal dishes the food is cooked and served in, besides a nod to the origins of the Pakistani immigrants to the city from the region of Baltistan. The application, made in October 2013, remains pending but if it is successful, the name

"Birmingham Balti" would be given EU protected name status alongside a series of other British foods such as Bramley Apple Pie. A protected name status benefits big producers of well known protected names such as Champagne as well as small industries and brands who might have a traditional way of making a product known by the region's name.
